Elba City Council appoints Johnathan Lockett to fill vacant District One seat

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City Council met Monday evening, April 13, via a teleconference call due to the COVID-19 social distancing public health orders. All council members and Mayor Mickey Murdock were present for the meeting.

Council members addressed the vacancy of the District One council seat, which was vacated at the last council meeting by Rolanda Jones. Upon her resignation, Jones noted that she would like to see District One resident Johnathan Lockett appointed to fill the seat for the remainder of the current unexpired term.

Monday night, council member Tom Maddox made a motion with a second from council member AR Williams to appoint Lockett to the District One seat for the remainder of this term. The motion passed unanimously.

Mayor Murdock welcomed Lockett, who also was listening in on the teleconference call, to the council, and said he looked forward to Lockett working with Lockett as he represents his district.

Assistant city clerk Pat Boothe told council members that city employees ees are continuing to work on split-staffing assignments due to the COVID-19 concerns while still providing necessary services for the city and its citizens. She said this seems to be working well thus far, and she has not been aware of any employees catching the virus.

Murdock added that all city employees have their temperatures checked prior to starting work each day, and if anyone shows to have a fever, that person is sent home until he/she goes two days fever-free.

"We have been blessed so far that no employees have been sick [with COVID-19]," Boothe said.

The assistant city clerk said the electric department was out in full force from about 10 p.m. Sunday night, April 12, until well in the morning Monday, April 13, due to the storms that moved through the area. She said there were several calls of limbs/trees down on powerlines, etc., and several power outages around the town during that time, but the city was fortunate to not have any major issues. She said all power was restored in a timely manner by the electric crews.

Police Chief Leslie Hussey said his department, much like other city departments, had been trying to limit contact with the public as much as possible the past few weeks while still serving to the best of its ability due to the COVID-19. He said that was working well thus far.

Chief Hussey said Coffee County EMA provides him with information on any COVID-19 cases in the service area to help his officers and other first responders be more prepared in case they have to respond to something involving a person with the virus. He

MEMBERS OF THE ELBA VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT WERE DISPATCHED late Sunday night, April 12, into early Monday morning, April 13, to assist with trees down on powerlines and/or across roadways in and around Elba due to a storm system that moved across the state. The storm knocked a large portion of a pecan tree down on powerlines around 1:43 a.m. Monday morning at 1105 Guyton Street (shown above). This was a common scene early Monday in several locations around Elba, according to members of the fire department as they assisted with removing trees overnight. The strong weather system also caused some short-lived power outages in Elba and Coffee County; but, no major damage was reported in the Elba area from the storms.

Coffee County BOE conducts virtual board meeting

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Board of Education members gathered virtually Thursday evening, April 9, for the board's regular monthly meeting.

The virtual board meeting was broadcast via Zoom Meeting on the internet. While there were a handful of people at the board of education meeting, the rest of those attending joined via computer.

Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth provided the board with an update on how things would progress for the school system over the final month-plus of the 2019-2020 school year. He said learning packets could be picked up this week for students at assigned times while others would be emailed to those choosing that option to receive their schoolwork.

Once the assignments are completed by the students, Killingsworth said the schoolwork would be sent back to the teacher electronically, and no packets would be returned back physically to the school.

"I want to thank all of our staff for getting things together for the students and for their willingness to think on the move," Killingsworth said.

He said seniors in 'good standing' with their completed course work are now considered graduates. As for those not in good standing, the super said their teachers would be making contact on what needs to be done to get that student to the point of graduation.

"We ask that our parents and students be patient with us during all of this," Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth said. "If a parent has any particular questions, they are encouraged to get in contact with the student's teacher to discuss those questions."

"There will be a graduation [ceremony] even if it has to be a virtual ceremony," Killingsworth said. He said he could not say exactly when a graduation ceremony would be held for this year's seniors, but it would happen one way or another at some point.

Killingsworth also said personal belongings for students left in classrooms and/or lockers would be gathered and a pickup time would be announced for the students or parents to come by the schools and get those items.

Killingsworth said the school system was looking at having all student-completed work in by May 8th. He said the last day of the school year for teachers is anticipated now to be May 22nd.

"We ask that our parents and students be patient with us during all of this," Killingsworth said.

"If a parent has any particular questions, they are encouraged to get in contact with the student's teacher to discuss those questions."

He said no one wanted the school year to end this way, but all are working together to complete it best they can now under the current circumstances created by the COVID-19 pandemic. He commended all that had gone the extra mile during this difficult time.

"I wish our students the best as they adapt to learning online during this time," board member Eric Massey said in response to the update provided by the superintendent.

The board voted unanimously to approve several personnel actions recommended by Killingsworth. These including employments, two retirements and a resignation.

Teachers hired for the 2020-2021 school year included: Josie Kitch, elementary teacher for Kinston; Ashley Sanders, EL Specialist assigned to New Brockton Elementary; Alaina McCollough,

Elba High's Leighanne Sanders named Class 1A Bryant-Jordan Student-Achievement winner

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Elba High School senior Leighanne Sanders won the Class 1A Bryant-Jordan Student-Achievement Award, which was announced Monday night, April 13, during the 35th annual Bryant-Jordan Student Athlete Awards Program.

This year's program was televised due to the COVID-19 concerns in the state, but it was an exciting night regardless for Elba as Sanders was named the Class 1A Achievement Award winner.

Sanders recently was named the Class 1A Region 2 achievement winner for the award, and she received a $3,000 scholarship for that honor. Upon being announced the Class 1A achievement winner Monday night, Sanders received an additional $3,500 scholarship.

"We here at Elba City

Leighanne Sanders

Schools are very proud of Leighanne Sanders on being named the Class 1A Bryant-Jordan Achievement winner," Elba City Schools superintendent Chris Moseley said. "This was a great honor for Leighanne and for our school system. She is a very deserving young lady."

Elba City Schools delivered nearly 2,000 meals to children on Monday

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City Schools Child Nutrition Program (CNP) entered its second week of delivering meals to children ages 1-18 on Mondays with deliveries April 13th, and the response in this week unbelievable.

Meals are distributed on Mondays of each week with each child getting five breakfast and five lunch meals for that. Last week, the school system handed out 1,180 meals to 118 children.

On Monday of this week, 196 children received meals from Elba City Schools!

"Elba City Schools delivered 1,960 meals [Monday]," Elba CNP coordinator Christina Morgan said. "That's a lot of food and getting to see 'our kids' while delivering makes it even more special."

Per USDA guidelines, children must be present in order for meals to be provided. This is for pick-up of meals only, and no meals can be consumed on site.

"We are extremely pleased with the response we are getting with our meal delivery program," Elba City Schools superintendent Chris Moseley said. "As long as students (children) are participating and are at the delivery sites to receive the meals, we will continue doing this each Monday through the end of this school year."

The meals mostly are being delivered by school buses to designated sites; however, Moseley said the response had been so great

Coffee County Commission opens several public WiFi spots to help students

As schools statewide prepare to complete the school year remotely, internet access will be critical to each student's continued academic success.

In order to ensure that all students have the tools needed to maximize their educational experience for the remainder of the semester, Coffee County is providing public WiFi access at several locations. The WiFi will be accessible in the parking lots at the Elba Courthouse, Enterprise Courthouse, County Farm Center, and Zion Chapel Senior Center.

The County is coordinating with the Town of Kinston and WiFi will be available at the Kinston Senior Center sometime next week.

As a reminder, each of these buildings will remain closed to the public. However, students will be able to access the public WiFi in the parking lot of each facility. In order to ensure the county able to continue to provide this service, citizens using public WiFi must remain in their vehicles and observe all social distancing protocols.

The Coffee County Commission encourages everyone to continue to follow guidance from health officials to protect themselves and to help minimize the impact of the virus.

"Don't worry about the world coming to an end today. It's already tomorrow in Australia." — Charles Schulz Samaritan's Purse's has set up a temporary hospital in New York City to treat the overflow of Coronavirus victims that has brought the medical community of that huge city to its knees. They brought their own doctors and nurses, etc. and are volunteers. These folks are working directly with the New York City medical community. Guess what? A member of the NYC city council is critical of them being there because of their strong Christian beliefs! Our initial thought when reading this news clip was to ponder how fast this individual would change his tune IF he (or a member of his family) came down with the virus and this was the only place with any room and/or doctors and nurses to treat his illness? Hopefully we will never know, because no one should wish such a terrible fate on another person — not even a NYC politician.

The world has just celebrated another Easter season — but in a way much different than ever before. Many of our family members are sitting at their respective homes and have been posting Facebook pictures from past family Easter gatherings. With each new picture we pause and for a few moments relive that particular event with delight and a warm humble feeling in our chest. It still amazes us to see a child in one of those pictures and realize that individual is now a grandparent! Then all too many of those in those older pictures have passed on through to a greater reward and will always be missed. But as we often tell friends who have just lost a loved one, they are gone from your life, but the wonderful memories they left will be with you always.

More and more people can be seen wearing face masks and maybe even gloves during this still growing pandemic. That is a good health practice, however wearing them is not the total answer. We saw a short video by a nurse demonstrating 'germs'. She had on gloves and dipped her fingers in a bit of fresh green paint (representing germs). She then touched her cell phone when her mother called, her face to scratch an itch, the steering wheel of her car, etc., and suddenly she had germs everywhere!

Many, many churches are improvising during this trying time when not being able to hold traditional church services. They are doing it largely through social media and in many cases, we notice a vast improvement with each new broadcast service. They have to be saluted for not letting anything stop the spreading the Word of our Lord. However, in a fit of true confession, we don't want this to be a permanent substitute for the traditional Sunday morning gathering in the brick and mortar church facility. It just is not the same.

Elba native, Dr. Russell Bedsole, Dothan Internal Medicine doctor, believes the key to saving lives from COVID-19 is education and he is doing that through a twice weekly video. He graduated UAB medical school after completing his high school education at Elba High School (another Elba youth 'done' good). A number of Elba folks consider him 'their doctor'. In his videos Dr. Bedsole answers questions, debunks rumors and gently gives out the latest information about the ongoing pandemic. Listen to Bedsole's Facebook talks and a person can quickly grasp the seriousness of this virus and at the same time clear some of the rumors from the worry list. The top of his 'to do' list includes social distancing.

Alabama Securities Commission offers free financial education materials and budget tips to assist Alabamians during the COVID-19 pandemic and after

The Alabama Securities Commission (ASC) wants to make Alabama investors aware of free financial resources available on their website.

The information contained in the materials addresses investors of all stages of life and can empower them in their pursuit of financial success, or restoring personal financial stability as many are experiencing during this difficult time. In addition, the ASC provides useful information to help citizens cope with the financial challenges caused by the pandemic.

The materials may be viewed on the ASC website under the "Education" link at the top of the page and can be accessed through the following link: http://asc.alabama.gov/investor_education_3.aspx.

SPECIAL FINANCIAL TIPS FOR TODAY:

1. Everyone should have a checking account. Those who have a checking account often have the ability to route payments directly to the account instead of waiting for a check that could get lost in the mail, including government stimulus payments and potential tax refunds. If you don't have a checking account, set one up at a bank or credit union the next time you have a deposit. If the institution says it won't accept a check issued by the U.S. Government, find one that will.

2. Compare the checking account fees of different banks. Since most banks and credit unions aren't paying much in interest these days, find a bank or credit union that doesn't charge a fee to open or maintain a checking account. Take a look at www.bankrate.com to study different checking account opportunities and call or visit different local banks and credit unions on the internet.

3. Prepare a detailed budget and live by it - now, during the pandemic, and forever. Use this time at home to meaningfully review finances and prepare a reasonable budget. Having one can provide peace of mind, especially during this uncertain time. The ASC can provide you more information on this topic. Some of our valued partners have excellent materials and training on the topic of budgeting (Alabama Cooperative Extension System, Consumer Finance Protection Bureau and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation).

Running a household is a financial challenge, like running a business. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics only 25% of new businesses survive the 15 year mark. "Whether you currently own a business, run a household, or both, the key to being financially successful is to account for every penny and continually identify saving possibilities on recurrent expenses," says ASC Chief Deputy Amanda Senn.

We hope that you are able to commit to learning more about saving and investing, especially during the pandemic. The time invested will pay significant dividends in the long run. The ASC will continue to provide financial information and tips, and promote fraud awareness, to ensure Alabamians have the financial tools and knowledge they need to continue to recover and prosper.

Cuzin Lou Lou prepared to go into the grocery store to get some needed items for her Easter feast... well, Easter meal really since this year would be different than any other due to the social distancing required by the state's response to the COVID-19 virus.

She pulled her mask on... then, it hit her!

"I should have brought my cownirl hat too," she exclaimed!

Sister rolled her eyes. She did not really want to ask Lou Lou what she meant by that statement, but she asked anyway. She would regret it!

"Why in the world would you need that hat to go inside the grocery store, Lou Lou?"

"When else am I going to be able to go in places looking like an armed robber from the wild west and it be permissible," was the response with no hesitation.

"You did not just say that during a time like this," Sister responded.

"Well... why not! I look like a total goof ball wearing a mask into the grocery store, but at the same time it is necessary to follow the public health suggestions for safety. Might as well have a little fun too."

For once, Sister could not help but agree that Lou Lou made a valid point.

It is no fun wearing masks over our noses and mouths as we go into places like the grocery store to pick up essential items needed to eat and keep our homes operating. It is no fun staying 6 feet away from basically every person you know.

By now, everyone's hands most likely are as dry as Lou Lou's from all the hand washing with antibacterial soap and cleansing every time you get in and out of the car with hand sanitizer.

The list of preventative measures being taken could go on and on. And, truth told there probably are even more things we should be doing but aren't or haven't thought of yet.

But, if illnesses are prevented and lives are saved by "looking like a goofball every time we walk into the grocery store with our masks on" then it will be worth the effort. We may not realize it now, but we will certainly appreciate it when the time comes that we all can be out and about again and enjoying ourselves by participating in extra-curricular activities again.

It may seem like it is taking forever but hang in there. There will be a day when this is all a memory. However, don't block it so far away that we return to the things that got us in this mess in the first place.

There are lessons about life that have been learned during this quarantine time...let's not forget those lessons when our fear of COVID-19 leaves us.

In the meantime, pretend you're stuck in the wild west next time you gear up for the grocery store, and have a little fun along the way! Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

not only does this help first responders be better prepared, but it also helps protect them.

As of Monday evening's meeting, Hussey said there were 32 confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Coffee County but only two of those were Elba residents. He said there were a few more county residents in that mix, but the majority of the cases thus far had been Enterprise residents.

Chief Hussey did not that Coffee County had the highest increase in cases across the state from Friday, April 10, to Monday, April 13, with 10 new cases confirmed during that time-frame. There was a drive-up testing site set up one day last week in Enterprise, and it is believed that attributed to the sudden larger increase in cases for Coffee

County as results from those tests began to come back to officials.

Also during the meeting, council members approved monthly bills totaling $521,952.21 for payment. A motion to approve the bills was made by council member Jane Brunson with a second from council member AR Williams, and it was passed by unanimous vote.

The mayor said approximately $200,000 of the bills approved for payment would be reimbursed to the city from various grant funds on completed projects.

The next Elba City Council meeting is set for Monday, April 27, at 5:30 p.m.

teacher at New Brockton Elementary; Shelly Nelson, Pre-K teacher at Zion Chapel; and Daisy Lott, elementary teacher at Zion Chapel.

Retirements approved included Ben Green, a bus driver for New Brockton Schools [last day of work will be May 21st]; and Dennis Shuman, custodian at Zion Chapel [last day of work will be June 30th].

Christina Greenwood, a custodian at Zion Chapel submitted her resignation, and it was approved by the board.

Additional support employee hires for the 2020-2021 school year were: Ceralene Edmondson, Pre-K aide at New Brockton Elementary; Bettie Danford, instructional aide at New Brockton Elementary; Kendra Thomas, superintendent's secretary at the central office; Lindsey Stinson Pre-K aide at Zion Chapel; Kaley Moore, Pre-K aide at Zion Chapel; and Kayla Deal, custodian on a 10-month contract at Zion Chapel.

Also during the meeting, Killingsworth provided a quick capital projects update. He noted plans had been approved for the Zion Chapel stadium project; bids were soon to be opened on the New Brockton stadium project; and advertising needed to be done for the New Brockton classrooms addition project.

Killingsworth said he hoped the additional modular classrooms ordered for New Brockton Elementary School [to utilize beginning with the 2020-2021 school year] would be in place by the end of May to allow all other needed work to be done so those classrooms would be ready to go by start of the new school year.

Prior to adjourning, several board members commended Killingsworth for his leadership during the unprecedented time created by the Coronavirus pandemic.

The next regular Coffee County Board of Education meeting is set for May 5th; however, Killingsworth said there could be a need to hold a special meeting before that date to approve some matters pertaining to the capital projects.

Gov. Kay Ivey today stressed the ongoing importance of the 2020 Census, which is currently under way and available for immediate online, phone or mail response.

"It is an unprecedented time in Alabama; however, we must remain committed to Census participation," said Gov. Ivey. "The COVID-19 pandemic shows the importance of state representation on a national level. If we lose a representative due to a low Census count, that would mean one less voice advocating for Alabama's needs during critical times in the future."

pation rate recorded in the 2010 Census, the state would likely experience reduced representation in Congress, the loss of millions of dollars in Census-derived community funding, and reduced economic development opportunities.

"Though the hearts and minds of Alabamians rests on the unprecedented health emergency we are currently battling, we must remember that our Census results are vital to our collective future," said Kenneth Boswell, Alabama Counts! chairman and director of the Alabama Department of Economic and Community

COVID-19 Advisory on Planning Funerals

During this unprecedented COVID-19 pandemic, all funeral homes in Alabama will be complying with the State Health Order issued on March 27, 2020. The Alabama State Health Order requires our bereaved families and funeral establishment members to:

1. Limit the number of family members participating in arrangement conferences. Teleconferencing options will be strongly encouraged and arranged by the funeral home, if possible. All in-person arrangement conferences will implement the social distancing requirements of 6 feet.
2. All in-person non-work gatherings are limited to 10 people. Funeral home employees will be assisting families in planning small graveside, chapel, church, and visitation services that meet the 10 in-person gather order. Opportunities for larger memorial or celebration of life services will be offered after the health order is lifted.
3. For those families finding it difficult to postpone a larger service, live streaming the service is an option. Funeral home employees will be happy to discuss this option with you.
4. Any arrangements made by funeral home members with bereaved families must include the social distancing practice recommended in the state health order. Family members with weakened immune systems or chronic health issues are encouraged to stay home.
5. Any family member that has been exposed to COVID-19 or is showing signs of active illness, such as fever or cough, will not be admitted to the funeral home to prevent the spread of COVID-19 to others.

COVENANT COMMUNITY CHURCH

THE NEGATIVES OF NORMAL

We've made it! We've survived four weeks distanced from one another. This past month has been a significant change of pace for everyone. We have physically distanced ourselves from family, friends, neighbors, schools and churches. We've begun wearing masks when we go out. We wash our hands more than ever! Work changed: working at home, working with protective gear or unable to work at all. Being "online" has become more of a necessity than a luxury as school and church have gone digital. I think we can all agree that things have changed.

I have heard many people say, "I can't wait for things to go back to normal." I hope things do NOT go back to normal.

Normal wasn't working.

Normal filled us with stress.

Normal kept our schedules too full.

Normal harmed our families.

Normal disoriented us.

Our priorities were out of alignment with the life that God designed for us to live.

Jesus' death and resurrection remind us that humanity is broken. We can only receive new life through death. On the cross, Jesus exposed our sin and everything wrong in this life. In Jesus' resurrection, we see that there is another chance and another way to live this human life. In this Easter season, we can look back at the life that Jesus led as an example for us. We can also look forward to the ways that we can go back to The Garden and reclaim God's purpose and rhythm for humanity.

What needs to die in you so that a new, better life can be born for you and your family?

What needs to be left behind to travel forward, unburdened by things that were holding you back?

What needs to change in this world to reveal God's vision for a better, hope-filled future?

Let's not waste this season! Let's repent, reconsider and reorient ourselves to a better way forward.

BASIN BAPTIST CHURCH GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE...On Friday afternoon, April 10, Basin Baptist Church pastor Dr. Sam Self changed the cloth on the cross in the church yard from purple to black symbolizing the death of Christ by crucifixion. Then, he spoke via Facebook live about the symbolism of that moment. This special Good Friday service is a tradition for Basin Baptist Church; however, instead of 20-30 people in attendance for the somber moment this year, it was done with the preacher completing the cloth change and then speaking to his congregation and many others that 'tuned in' over a streaming internet service. This has become the current norm for many churches this month due to the COVID-19 crisis the nation has been battling. Early Sunday morning, that black cloth at Basin Baptist Church was changed to a white cloth in honor of the Resurrection of Christ! Self said it hurts his heart to not be able to see his church members inside the building right now, but he said that does not keep Jesus' followers from worshipping Him. They simply must find alternate ways to 'get it done' until the COVID-19 pandemic improves.

Affairs. "Furthermore, responding now will minimize the need for the Census Bureau to send Census takers out into communities to follow up once restrictions are lifted."

Additionally, the Governor stressed that participation in the 2020 Census will not impact whether you receive a stimulus check, as the Census Bureau is bound by Title 13 of the U.S. Code to keep your information confidential.

"The answers you provide are used for statistical purposes only and in no way will impact personal stimulus package allocation," said Gov. Ivey.

Alabamians can participate in the 10-question Census online at www.my2020Census.gov, by phone at 1-844-330-2020 or by paper form — all without coming into contact with a Census taker. All participants' information is protected by strict federal law.

Due to COVID-19, the U.S. Census Bureau has formally announced adjustments to its original Census 2020 timeline, and Gov. Ivey and Chairman Boswell are in close contact with representatives monitoring the situation daily.

"Census participation is not merely a count; it's a road-map for our future. Now more than ever, the urgency of an accurate count is vital to Alabama," added Gov. Ivey. "Help us create a future for Alabama that is one with proper consideration in times like this. Please fill out your Census today — our future depends on it."

Additional information on Census 2020, Alabama-specific statistics, local community resources and Alabama Counts! campaign assets can be found at census.Alabama.Gov.

* Counting the Cost

Are you familiar with the expression, "Don't bite off more than you can chew?" We can imagine a person stuffing his mouth with so much food that he cannot easily chew or swallow. As a result, it is impossible for him to gain any enjoyment or satisfaction from what he is eating. And of course, we can understand the point that it is foolish to say "yes" to more responsibilities than we can realistically manage. We who are disciples of Jesus need to weigh carefully the many opportunities for service and to choose the one that best matches our gifts and abilities. Jesus deserves only our best and will settle for nothing less. "Counting the Cost" is also imperative for those who are not yet disciples. And as they weigh that choice, they must consider not only what it cost to follow but what it means to reject Christ's call. Yes, it cost to follow Jesus — some even lose their lives in

His service. But the cost of not following, of remaining lost for eternity, is far greater!

LIFESTYLES

Dear New Hope Senior Center Seniors,

Thank you for your love, support and understanding during these trying times. I know this is not the way we had hoped things would be, but we trust that God will see us through. Hang in there, and we will be back together in no time!

Special thanks to Kim Ellis, Patti Culver, the Coffee County Commission, SARCOA, Penny Price, James Moultry, and each member of the New Hope Senior Center and the Community.

Having you here truly makes the difference! God has it all in control! We choose faith over fear! Love you all!

Coffee County EMA board of directors releases info addressing preparation and response to COVID-19

The information below was provided by the Coffee County EMA board of directors in reference to what Coffee County is doing in its continuing efforts to prepare and respond to the COVID-19 (SARS-COV-2) outbreak.

What do we think is going to happen? We are planning for various case-loads and infection rates and are hoping for our infection rate in Alabama to peak somewhere around the third week in April. We have used various modeling techniques and have been in constant contact with Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) and other government agencies to ensure we have the latest information. Unfortunately, no models are 100% correct and the projected numbers of infections have fluctuated wildly. We prefer accuracy over speed when planning for a response and so as we test more people we will have more adequate models and can adjust our response up or down depending on the numbers.

Alternative Care Sites (ACS): The state is currently working plans for various ACS throughout Alabama. Locally we have coordinated with the Medical Center Enterprise (MCE) and have made plans for various ACS in and around Enterprise. These sites are planned to take advantage of all available space and personnel to allow for tiered support of additional hospital capacity. We have also expanded our capacity in the hospital under our current surge plan. This is just a contingency plan to ensure we are ready should these assets be called upon. Again, we currently have no issues.

Medical Personnel: The Alabama Governor's Office of Volunteer Services now has a page seeking medically trained personnel volunteers. We are directing all medically trained personnel who wish to volunteer to the Alabama Governor's Office of Volunteer Services website, <https://www.serve-alabama.gov/alabamaready> op Testing Sites: In coordination with ADPH we have hosted a local testing site on 7 April 2020. We tested over 40 people with symptoms of COVID-19 who either self-identified or were sent by their physicians.

"This is an unprecedented event that takes the help and assistance of all of us working together," said James Brown, Coffee County EMA director. "The Coffee County Emergency Management Board thanks the public for their vigilance and for listening to and obeying all the enacted social distancing rules and public health orders."

Elba teenager surprised with birthday 'parade'

Birthday number 14 will be one to remember for Adalyn O'Neal of Elba!

The COVID-19 pandemic and all its social distancing orders can create gloom when it comes to celebrating birthdays right now; however, Adalyn's family and friends made sure that was not the case Monday, April 13, as she celebrated her 14th birthday.

At 5:30 p.m. Monday evening a long string of vehicles filled with well-wishers began parading through the circular drive at Adalyn's house... there were horns blowing, music playing, gifts handed out the windows, and lots of "Happy Birthday" cheers for Adalyn as some of her favorite people participated in the birthday parade.

"Adalyn sure felt all the love today," her mom Sasha said. "I had tears in my eyes just watching friends and family pull through our driveway wishing Adalyn a happy birthday."

This is just another example of folks thinking 'outside the box' as they come up with new ways to celebrate one another during the trying times of the COVID-19 pandemic of 2020.

Adalyn O'Neal celebrated her 14th birthday Monday, April 13, and while traditional birthday parties with family and friends are on halt currently due to the COVID-19 crisis, that did not keep Adalyn's family and friends from finding a special way to celebrate her! She was surprised with a "Birthday Parade" of vehicles filled with folks wanting to say happy birthday and drop off gifts from their windows Monday evening. It helped put a big 'ole sweet smile on Adalyn's face and warmed the hearts of her parents. Adalyn is the daughter of Brady and Sasha O'Neal of Elba. It was definitely a birthday to remember!!

Alabama's community colleges assist Department of Public Health with medical equipment needs

Alabama's community colleges are working with the Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) to provide much needed medical equipment - including ventilators - to hospitals who need them to aid patients during the coronavirus pandemic.

The supplies are made available from the colleges' simulated healthcare settings, where thousands of students who choose Alabama's community colleges each year train for medical careers. The equipment the colleges use is the same, top-quality supply used in hospitals and healthcare facilities across the state.

Elba's American Legion Post #42 seeks participants in essay contest for Alabama Girls and Boys State

Elba's American Legion Post 42 is asking students who are in the 11th grade to enter an essay contest for Alabama Girls and Boys State. Due to the COVID-19 virus, the essay contest is being handled differently this year.

The young man or lady selected will participate in government such as Senate, House of Representatives and the Governor. He/she also will participate in county offices such as Sheriff and Probate Judge just to name a few. They will be competing for scholarships besides the one they will receive just for attending the event.

The essay topic is: Many great leaders are determined and committed to their causes. The students are asked to write about something he/she feels passionately about—and then explain how he/she could lead others to also care about the cause. The essay must be 1-2 pages, but no more than 3 pages please.

Include a cover page with title, student's name, phone number, email address and home address so American Legion officials can notify the winner. DEADLINE for essay submission is April 24, 2020.

"It's no mistake that 'community' is embedded in the very names of our colleges," said ACCS Chancellor Jimmy H. Baker. "Much like our efforts to meet the needs of every student that crosses our path, our colleges work every day to help meet the needs of the communities they serve. We are grateful for the daily sacrifice of Alabama's healthcare providers and are grateful we can do our part to help serve our communities during the COVID-19 pandemic."

In addition to providing ventilators, community colleges across the state have donated personal protective equipment, or PPE, to local hospitals and other healthcare providers.

The ACCS will coordinate with the ADPH Center for Emergency Preparedness to assist with requests for medical supplies made directly to the ADPH.

"On behalf of the Alabama Department of Public Health, I am grateful for the willingness of the Alabama Community College System to grant the urgent request for the loan of their available ventilators in response to the COVID-19 pandemic," said State Health Officer, Scott Harris. "We are continually encouraged by the number of entities across the state that are rising to the occasion to meet the needs of the citizens of Alabama."

Covington Electric CoOp extends suspension of electric service disconnects for non-payment through April 30th

Covington Electric Cooperative [CEC] is continuing to work with its members during this unprecedented health crisis.

CEC has extended its suspension of electric service disconnects for non-payment through April 30. Late fees and arrangement fees will also be waived during this time period.

CEC reminds its members that payments for electric service are still due by the members' due dates and the co-op encourages all members who are not financially impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic to pay their bills on time. This will help avoid larger bills during the next billing cycle that could potentially include two or more months of service.

The CoOp is committed to the health and safety of its employees and members and that is why the current closure of all CEC lobbies will continue until further notice.

"In an effort to be as diligent as possible to help prevent the spread of COVID-19, we have instructed our employees to

South Alabama Electric Cooperative's office remains closed through April 30th

South Alabama Electric Cooperative's office will remain closed through April 30th in an effort to continue doing what is best for employees and members.

SAEC is continuing to assess the situation daily and considers the health of members and employees to be a top priority.

While the lobby is closed, SAEC is not. The cooperative is still working to provide excellent service and respond to any outages that may occur.

Because of this there are numerous ways to conduct business. SAEC encourages members to take advantage of a variety of options to pay their utility bill:

- Visit southaec.com.
 - Download the SAEC Connect app on your tablet or smartphone.
 - Pay by phone at 877-566-0611.
 - Use SAEC's night-drop box, but members are encouraged to use other payment options.
- If members have any questions, please call 1-800-556-2060.

practice social distancing and this includes those working in the field," said Ed Short, CEC president, CEO and general manager. "We're asking our members to also honor this practice by keeping a safe six feet distance from our employees if they encounter them on, or near their property while working. CEC is also closing our drive thru windows at all offices until further notice beginning April 7."

CEC members have several ways to make payments, sign up for new service, and conduct other co-op related business as needed. Some of these methods including using the CEC website covington.coop, the CEC App or by calling 800-239-4121 during regular business hours.

CEC will continue to update its members regarding changes to office procedures, billing policies, etc., through its website and Facebook page.

"We truly appreciate our great members and we want everyone to know that we are in this together and we will get through this together," said Short.

Governor issues Supplemental Emergency Proclamation to Allow Parole Hearings to Resume

Governor Kay Ivey on Monday issued a supplemental emergency proclamation, which directs the Board of Pardons and Paroles to resume parole hearings, amidst the COVID-19 pandemic.

Hearings will resume in a manner that reduces person-to-person interaction. At the same time, the Board of Pardons and Paroles will be preserving the right of crime victims, crime victim representatives, public officials and other interested parties to present their views to the Board.

In the governor's ongoing efforts to combat COVID-19, any provision of Alabama law allowing individuals to appear in person at a meeting of the Board is suspended. The Board of Pardons and Paroles will also allow views to be presented to them through written or emailed statements, as well as by phone.

Lawson and his Mom came over last weekend for a picnic and to hunt Easter eggs and it was really good to see the little man again after only seeing him from a distance for three weeks. He still loved to play his video games, but did hunt eggs and then hid some for his Aunt Mel to find, and ate a plate filled with macaroni and cheese. Yep, he is still the same little man that holds our hearts!

For what it is worth....

 I have been reading about the ways different high school coaches are trying to reach and teach their players, and talked with a coach in Georgia last week that said the staff he was on was busy on a site named 'zoom.' The site allows the coaches to meet with their position players, watch videos of past games as well as instruction videos, and actually see who they are talking to. I know the key to keeping the team together relies on how the players react and their dedication to off-season conditioning, but being able to contact the players on-line at least keeps the team together, if only on the computer.

 The Major League Baseball season may be only weeks away from starting, if we can believe what we read. According to reports, all the teams in both leagues will be housed in Arizona for the start of the season and will play games at the home of the Arizona Diamondbacks and at various spring training sites across the state. No fans will be allowed in the stadiums, but all the games would be televised and the teams would be housed in separate hotels. Sounds like a good idea to me since I am already tired of watching westerns on TV.

 In closing... Word is that Luverne is close to hiring a new head football coach to replace Scott Rials. Rumors are that they are down to three prospects, and for once I seem to know all three coaches in the running. I guess before long we will know who will fill the shoes for the Tigers.

MEGHAN MILAY and her family made quite a haul last week while fishing at the Coffee County Lake. The largest catfish tipped the scales at just over 9 pounds, while the total catch included nine catfish, one bass and three bream. The public fishing lake is open Wednesday - Sunday from sunup until sundown and has a stocked bait shop for all needs.

Elba golfers win 'Battle for 84'

A conversation between golfers from the Elba Country Club and Opp Country Club that had often played both against each other and with each other over the years at numerous tournaments turned into reality recently when 'The Battle of 84' golf match was staged to pit one club against the other.

The event was staged at the Elba Country Club with a format that included a match play scramble on Saturday and a four-ball match on Sunday with two Elba golfers battling two Opp golfers in each match.

The first team to earn four and one-half points would take home the honors in the match play event between eight of the top golfers from Elba and eight of the Opp's top golfers, and the event proved nothing short of interesting and exciting.

The Elba golfers dominated in the scramble format and jumped out to a 4-0 lead after the first round on Saturday, but the Opp golfers refused to throw in the towel and battled back on Sunday to win the first three matches to pull within 4-3 with only one match left on the course.

Opp's duo of captain Cody Hall and teammate Britt Wilson came out hot in their match against Elba's Mark Wicker and John Martin Wilson and held a three up lead with only four holes left to play.

The Elba duo won holes fifteen through seventeen as John Martin Wilson birdied fifteen, Mark Wicker birdied sixteen and Wicker won seventeen with a with a par to even the match. Neither team was able to win the final hole of the match, which gave both teams one-half point, and gave Elba the title and the plaque as the winners of the 'Battle of 84.'

Members of the Elba team were captain Jamison 'Biskit' Baker, Chase Rogers, Chace Sauls, Dylan Moulton, Trey Gary, Mark Wicker, Tanner Skinner and John Martin Wilson, while Opp was represented by captain Cody 'Cookie' Hall, Britt Wilson, Bradley Casady, Holt Parker, Adam Kilpatrick, Cory Ellis and Tyler Dent.

Social distancing was maintained by the golfers and the fans at the two-day event, which will now become an annual tournament between the golfers from each country club.

TO THE WINNERS.... Elba Country Club team members (l-r) Chase Rogers and Chace Sauls hold the unique plaque that went to the winners of the 'Battle for 84.'

Alabama's governor and state health officer provide update on Alabama's current fight against COVID-19

Governor said a decision would be made prior to April 30th Stay at Home order

With Alabama's 'Stay at Home' Public Health Order still in place, Governor Kay Ivey and State Public Health Officer Dr. Scott Harris held a press conference Tuesday morning, April 14, to give an update on where things stood for the state at that moment. "All indicators show the 'Stay at Home' Order is working," Governor Ivey said.

She spoke on getting Alabama open again when the time is right amid the ongoing COVID-19 health crisis. The governor said because this likely would not be a 'One Size Fits All' matter, that she would be turning the state's congressional delegates to look at what is best for their part of the state, and she would comprise an executive committee to oversee this matter.

Ivey said 264,000 citizens had filed for unemployment over the past four weeks, and it is imperative to get Alabama working again; however, she said it must be done in phases to continue to also ensure the public health safety of the state's citizens as well.

"This is not the time to put our guards down," Ivey said. "On or before April 28th, Dr. Harris and I will review the current stay at home order before it expires."

She said they would make a decision on what to do regarding it before April 30th - the date the current order ends.

As he addressed Alabamians during the press conference Dr. Harris said the predictions regarding COVID-19 in Alabama look a lot better now than first anticipated. He attributed that mostly to the citizens of the state staying home and social distancing as officials had asked them to do.

"Overall, I have been very pleased with how our state is responding [to the Stay at Home Order]," Harris said. "We know we will continue to see new cases, but at the moment our numbers look as good as we could expect. The thing that has affected that mostly is the people who have taken this seriously and stayed at home."

As of Tuesday's 11 a.m. press conference, there had been 3,805 confirmed cases of the COVID-19 virus in Alabama with 105 deaths [73 of those confirmed to be a result of the virus]. As of 3:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, the confirmed cases had increased to 3,876 with 110 deaths [73 confirmed].
